

TRAINING SESSION

Learn how to understand, recognize, and prevent radicalization leading to violence

PROFESSIONAL TRAINING FOR FRONT-LINE WORKERS,
CONCORDIA UNIVERSITY

OBJECTIVES

- Understand what characterizes the various types of violent radicalization (far right, far left, politico-religious, and single-issue radicalization), as well as hate incidents and hate crimes.
- Recognize the different types of behavioural, cognitive, or emotional changes displayed by vulnerable or radicalized individuals.
- Identify risk and protective factors associated with radicalization leading to violence.
- Determine appropriate strategies to respond effectively to situations of radicalization leading to violence.

TARGET AUDIENCE

Front-line workers (social workers, case workers, youth workers, doctors, psychologists, community workers, teachers, street workers, etc.)

NOVEMBER 20, 2017 / 8:30 A.M. TO 12:00 (NOON)

John Molson School of Business, 1450 Guy street,
9th floor, Montreal.
Registration necessary, as seats are limited (35).

Reserve your spot by November 13 by contacting us at info@info-radical.org

If there are ten or more interested parties within the same organization, we can offer this professional training session at your place of work. Contact us for more information.

CENTRE FOR THE PREVENTION OF RADICALIZATION
LEADING TO VIOLENCE

FREE – ACT FAST!

